Supporting A Vision of Hope for all Families
Fess is supporting tribal caregivers and even hosted a 6-week winning at parenting series.

May 23, 2017 Governor’s mansion to celebrated the “Winners” of the Voices of Children Contest… and their families. It was heartwarming to listen to the children read their winning essays.

12-week parenting program based on the curriculum Moral Reconation Therapy. A treatment program that addresses past parenting behaviors, present family interactions, and assists parents in planning for a healthy family future. MRT classes are offered for individuals & couples on Tuesdays and Thursdays in Thurston and on Thursdays in Mason Counties.

“Veteran Parents” (Parent Advocate—walked in your shoes) provide support and help parents new to the system understand what they must do to successfully reunite with their children. The program consists of two main elements: Veteran Parent support at the Dependency Court Hearings, and a two-hour educational class known as Dependency 101.

Mainstream class. Often offered in schools or with community partners, this family participation parenting program is designed to increase the health of families by helping parents develop their parenting skills. Throughout the 6-week class, group members share parenting strengths and identify areas for personal growth.

FESS Program Highlights

We served over 5,000 individuals last year, providing education and support through our programs and services.

Over 2,000 adults attended our Consider the Children seminar on divorce and separation.

We served over 122 Kinship Caregivers with case management, emergency financial aid, respite care, support, and/or training.

Over 100 pregnant and parenting women struggling with addiction participated in our Clean and Sober parenting classes.

238 parents were supported through our Parents for Parents program. This includes outreach in court as well as our “Dependency 101” trainings.

Over 130 Parents participated in the court ordered/CPS referred Parenting and Family Values course.
